

Bergonzi Joins Fast-Growing Christie Campus Health as EVP of Account Management

(Lexington, MA)--Michele Bergonzi has joined Christie Campus Health (CCH) as Executive Vice President of Account Management for the fast-growing provider of mental health services for college students.

Bergonzi will focus on developing strategies to further enhance the services CCH provides to its growing number of higher ed institutions who use CCH's behavioral health services to support their own on-campus clinics. CCH currently provides a wide continuum of mental health services to over a half million students across the nation

Bergonzi's expansive career in managed care and health care spans 30+ years, with 20 years of experience directly involved in student health insurance.

"CCH is changing the face of mental health service delivery on college campuses, a critical need for so many students and institutions, and one that closely aligns with my personal interests. I am very excited to be joining this team," Bergonzi said. "CCH's sole focus is helping college administrators serve student needs. And that singular mission and the expertise CCH brings to it is what has fueled their rapid growth over the past several years."

Michele Bergonzi

Prior to joining CCH, Bergonzi was Senior Vice President of Account Management for Gallagher Student Health & Special Risk, where she directed account management services to a diverse portfolio of elite private colleges, large public colleges, state university systems, and consortiums, and was directly responsible for managing Gallagher's key, strategic accounts. Under her leadership the company experienced a 98% retention rate year over year.

"We're excited to have Michele's expertise and leadership which includes such a deep level of experience in client relationship management, to join our team," said Kate Begley, CCH CEO. "We pride ourselves on our service level to colleges as they and their on-campus student centers manage a more complex level of student mental health need. Michele brings a passion for client service to CCH--our clients will be served well."

Bergonzi built her career in health care, from her first position with Bay State Health Care, a start-up managed care organization, to Neighborhood Health Plan, a community-based health center model, John Hancock's group long-term care division, The MEDSTAT Group focusing on consumer and client satisfaction, and then Gallagher Student Health (formally Koster Insurance) where she established herself as a leader in student health. Throughout her career, Bergonzi led with the principle of doing what's right and best for her clients and their greatest asset, their students.

About Christie Campus Health

Based in Lexington, Massachusetts, the management of Christie Campus Health has decades of experience in college student health and is solely focused on partnering with colleges and universities to deliver efficient, high-quality mental health services to students. In response to the campus mental health crisis, Christie Campus Health's team of experts in public health, clinical psychology, student health insurance and higher education policy, came together to create a solution that would help colleges and universities improve the way they support student mental health. They developed CONNECT@College, the market's only single-vendor, comprehensive solution that expands counseling center capacity and helps colleges reach and support students in need.
